High Level Youth Policy Dialogue on Sustainable Development Goals

Theme: "Prioritizing an Investment in Youth Development in the Post-2015 era"

19th-21st August 2014, Nairobi, Kenya

BACKGROUND

The High Level Youth Policy Dialogue on SDGs to be held in July 2014 in Nairobi, Kenya is an African youth event, open to international youth, with an aim of gathering and strengthening political commitment for governments to support prioritizing investment in youth development in the post-2015 era. The meeting will cultivate on the recommendations made by young people and create political goodwill for African countries to champion the youth agenda at the intergovernmental negotiations (September 2014-September 2015).

The policy dialogue is a platform for young people to lobby their government at the highest decision making level to recognize the Post-2015 Agenda as a perfect opportunity to target inclusive and sustainable growth that devotes more attention to higher standards and to outcomes that improve the quality of young people's lives. The new framework must put young people at the core of the targets and indicators aimed at poverty reduction, enhanced access to clean water and modern energy, quality education, urban development, decent jobs, sexual and reproductive health, healthcare and improved agricultural technologies.

OBJECTIVES:

- a. To galvanize governments to make political commitments towards supporting young people's demands and aspirations for a better future in the post-2015 era.
- b. To provide an inclusive platform for young people to engage in a dialogue with decision makers including head of states and ministers to share ideas, experiences and innovative approaches for effectively contributing to the designing of SDGs and their implementation.
- c. To facilitate effective partnerships with young organizations, the Governments and UN Agencies in designing and implementation the SDGs.
- d. To engage African countries and organizations including CSOs that will act as youth champions to push for the youth agenda in the SDGs intergovernmental process.

EXPECTED RESULTS:

1. The meeting will offer concrete policy-relevant and development-oriented recommendations in relation to increased Youth leadership and participation for inclusive growth and achievement of sustainable development goals.
2. The meeting will secure political leadership commitment towards ensuring the needs and values of young people are included and met in the post-2015 era.

Dialogue Format:

The format of the youth meeting should be interactive and conducive to certain debates being able to be televised for virtual delegates (eg. in the breakout sessions). The high level youth meeting runs for 3 days and incorporates:

- Plenary sessions, including opening, closing and thematic sessions.
- Breakout sessions, organized on specific issues relating to the youth meeting theme.
- Cultural evenings, sponsored by partners
- A "media hub", run by young journalists (in cooperation with News Agencies) who will report daily on the meeting. The media center would ideally host media groups covering the youth meeting and would provide a space for interviews, press conferences etc. The media center would also provide a space for young participants themselves to update directly on the proceedings of the youth meeting through blogs, online uploads etc.

- Building the capacities of youth: The meeting will aim to capacity-build the youth delegates, so they can acquire or strengthen personal skills and competencies, particularly advocacy, lobbying and become knowledgeable on the post-2015 and SDGs process to enable their effective and meaningful participation.
